MY FAVOURITE MONTH & HEADING INTO SPRING

Everyone who knows me knows that I LOVE February: It is my Birthday month, which always brings a warm and shining day of love into my life but it is also Groundhog Day, Valentine’s Day, Family Day and Black History Month. There seems to be a coming together of people in February and it warms my heart – Every. Single. Year.

This year, the birthday month was a big one as I embarked into the land of Forty-somethings, or Level 40 as I so lovingly refer to every age. Every age we reach is like an accomplishment and life sometimes feels like a video game with all of the twists, turns, secret doors, challenges and a monster to battle it out with before you can get to the next level. PLUS it is more fun this way 😊

We have been embarking on a lot of outdoor fun as we went from the Grey Lockdown order to Red and while I was sad that our usual travel plans were postponed, my amazing husband went above and beyond and surprised me with a lawn full of penguins*, an online fundraiser for Youth Opportunities Unlimited and a Virtual Birthday Party complete with Rock n’ Roll Bingo! I felt incredibly special and it meant the World to be able to “celebrate” with friends and family.

I also applied to the University of Fredericton for my MBA with a focus on Real Estate Leadership and just got my acceptance letter! This MBA is designed for busy professionals like myself and is virtual, part-time and requires 15-20 hours per week. I am so excited! I have already ordered a hoodie to show my school pride! It has been almost 20 years since I graduated from University at Carleton and I am pretty excited and nervous to take this step.

And finally, my keynote with the Comeback Champion Virtual Summit was chosen to be broadcast for all five days of the conference – which made me incredibly proud. Thank you to all who took the time to watch.

no penguins were harmed in the making of this Birthday adventure*
